

A Holiday Letter from CJ and Elaine

We had a fairly _____ year in _____, despite the absence of any major _____.
(adjective) (year) (plural noun)

The year opened with our _____ school's _____ (hobby) (Animal)

Dance season for Chinese New Year. Elaine and her Mom were _____ (verb, past tense)

by _____, and one of Ruth's hand-_____ roller derby (publication) (verb, past tense)

_____ was used in a fashion spread on biking. We tried _____ (plural noun) (hobby)

again, though we didn't have any better luck than last year. Even though we _____ what Elaine called a "training wheels" _____, she (verb, past tense) (noun)

somehow _____ anyway. We took a couple of camping trips this year, (verb, past tense)

and _____ the beauty of _____ Mountain State _____.
(verb, past tense) (Animal) (Noun)

Riley was so tired from _____ and _____ he fell asleep sitting (verb ending in -ing) (verb ending in -ing) up in the _____. He didn't even have the energy to _____ when (noun) (verb)

given a whole _____ of his own! We also saw The _____, a (food) (Occupation)

documentary about the annual Old-Time Piano _____ Contest held in (Verb ending in -ing)

_____. Since we had no other _____ on _____ anyway, (place) (plural noun) (holiday)

we decided to see the _____ for ourselves. We had such a _____ (noun) (adjective)

time that we're already looking forward to next year's _____! That's all for (noun)

now – have a _____ _____!
(adjective) (year)